It's Official: Nixon Enters '72 Race

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — President Nixon officially announced today he will seek re-election, telling New Hampshire campaign workers that he will allow his name to stay on the ballot for the state's March 7 presidential primary.

Nixon said he was seeking re-election because "I want to complete the work we have begun."

Sen. Edmund Muskie, considered by many to be the frontrunner for the Democratic nomination, and Rep. John Ashbrook just made the deadline for the March 7 race.

The Maine senator and the conservative congressman from Ohio submitted their nominating petitions on Thursday, the last filing day.

In Concord for the filing, Muskie immediately began campaigning among "my fellow New Englanders," casting himself as the favorite-son candidate but acknowledging the seriousness of the first test.

"If I were to lose New Hampshire, this would be a disaster," he said in a radio interview. "I don't expect I will, but I know I have to sell myself to the voters of New Hampshire. I can't take them for granted."

Ashbrook said his entry would give people a chance to demonstrate dissatisfaction with Nixon's philosophies. Ashbrook and his supporters claim Nixon has reneged on 1968 campaign promises to party conservatives.

Other Republicans in the New Hampshire race are Rep. Paul McCloskey of California, who is running on an antiwar platform, and comedian Pat Paulsen who also just beat the filing deadline Thursday. Democratic entrants besides Muskie are Sens. George McGovern of South Dakota and Vance Hartke of Indiana, and Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty.

McGovern announced in Chicago that delegates committed to his nomination will be entered in 17 of Illinois' 24 congressional districts for the March 21 primary in that state.

A campaign aide said McGovern probably would enter between 74 and 104 delegate candidates, ignoring the Chicago districts controlled by Mayor Richard J. Daley. Illinois has 170 delegates, with 10 selected at large after 160 are approved by voters.

Meanwhile, three other Democratic candidates, Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Henry M. Jackson of Washington, and Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York, spent the day in Florida where the nation's second primary is scheduled March 14.

Mrs. Chisholm, who like Humphrey has not yet made a formal announcement, told cheering students at Florida State University she could bring together the minorities in 1972.

At Tampa, Jackson said he favored Cape Kennedy as the site of the space shuttle program.

While Humphrey was in Miami conferring with labor leaders, it was reported in Detroit that the 1.3-million-member United Auto Workers Union is moving toward a Muskie endorsement.

A high union source said UAW President Leonard Woodcock "personally favors" Muskie and may publicly endorse him at a union conference in Washington, D.C., later this month.

And in Columbus, Ohio, the Ohio UAW did endorse the Maine senator who, union leaders said, "time and time again has demonstrated those qualities of reason, decency and judgment which are needed so desperately."

Another Democratic hopeful, New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, said in New York the Nixon administration should withdraw U.S. forces immediately from Southeast Asia.

Another Democrat, Alabama Gov. George Wallace, said in Florida both major parties are afraid he will run. He told a news conference he has not yet made up his mind whether to enter the Florida primary, but if he does there probably will be an announcement in the next few days.

Former Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, like Wallace a threat to start his own party, said in New York he would enter the New York state primary in June in a bid for the Democratic nomination. But he also said he might become a fourth-party candidate if the Democratic convention turns into something like the 1968 convention.

Meanwhile, each major broadcasting network said it would offer the Democratic congressional leadership an opportunity to reply to President Nixon's planned Jan. 20 State of the Union message.

Governor Releases Missouri's Budget

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes said today his budget for the 1972-73 fiscal year totals $1,861,953,180 from all sources and includes $822,506,952 from general (tax) revenues.

That budget will leave $728,790 in the treasury at the end of the fiscal year if collections hold up to the anticipated revenue, Hearnes said.

His fiscal staff estimated there would be about $4.2 million left in the treasury at the end of this fiscal year, June 30, and about $15 million more will come back from state agencies and institutions as unspent.

That will set the level of anticipated available revenue for the coming fiscal year at $823,235,742 in general revenue funds.

Hearnes proposed to keep the legislature's earlier promise by giving public schools their fourth annual addition of $35 million to make the state aid to schools $339 million for the coming fiscal year.

He also proposes these increases over current year appropriations: $2 million more for junior colleges, $7.6 million more for the University of Missouri, $3.5 million more for the state colleges and Lincoln University, $10.9 million more for welfare and $6 million more for mental health.

The figures he provided in his budget were still far less than the agencies and institutions asked for. Their requests totaled more than $1.2 billion in general revenue money and he found he had to cut that back to the $822 million figure.

Hearnes also proposed a $260 million capital improvements bond issue to provide needed buildings at state institutions, noting that Missouri now is in its third year of being able to provide only the bare repair essentials.

He called for an expenditure of $16.6 millions for a continuation of the repair procedure and added the bond proposal on top of that. The bond recommendation would have to clear the legislature and be approved by the voters before it could take effect.

Hearnes noted that a $250 million capital improvements bond issue proposal failed to get through the legislature last year. He said he now is proposing $260 million to meet the impact of a year's inflation in construction costs.

"We cannot afford further delays when inflation has that kind of effect in just a year's time," he said in his budget message.

The overall budget also includes 5 per cent across the board pay increases for state employees. But he warned legislators the state cannot afford both the pay increase and a proposed state takeover of all costs of a state employees retirement plan. Now the state and the employees share the costs of the retirement program.

Hearnes told the lawmakers they must make a choice between the pay increase and the retirement cost takeover.

"We cannot afford both the salary increase and the revised pension plan," he said.

The governor said, "The recommendations contained in this budget do not provide for all the requests which were made, falling some $400 million short of that figure. But they do call for notable improvements in the major fields of health, education and welfare, where more than 85 per cent of our general revenue budget is committed."

"If you will follow this guideline for operational expenses of our state agencies and also adopt a bond issue for construction of new buildings, then you will have acted responsibly and wisely in providing for the maximum amount of growth and improvement within the limits of our income."

Requests Of Institutions Are Reduced

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes cut sharply the requests of major institutions in his budget for the 1972-73 fiscal year.

General revenue requests totaled more than $1.2 billion but Hearnes cut that to $822 million.

Here are the general revenue budget figures for major institutions and the amounts they requested in parentheses:

University of Missouri, all four campuses — $97,646,283 ($112,962,628).

Lincoln University in Jefferson City — $3,191,144 ($4,056,475).

Missouri Southern College at Joplin — $1,729,536 ($2,497,393).

Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg — $11,360,675 ($12,588,485).

Northeast Missouri State College at Kirksville — $5,996,618 ($7,032,291).

Northwest Missouri State College at Maryville — $5,089,240 ($6,718,637).

Southeast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau — $7,378,309 ($7,937,635).

Southwest Missouri State College at Springfield — $9,612,892 ($10,782,547).

Mental Health administration — $1,092,864 ($1,169,836).

Fulton State Hospital — $11,169,492 ($13,194,541).

St. Joseph State Hospital — $7,444,850 ($8,861,352).

Jet Is Hijacked At Los Angeles

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A Pacific Southwest Airlines jet was hijacked from Los Angeles to Tampa today by a shotgun-armed man and a woman with a baby and then took off suddenly for an unknown destination.

The Boeing 727, refueled for the second time, sat on the ground more than two hours while the FBI considered the hijackers' request for a larger aircraft capable of flying to Africa.

Aboard with the hijackers were 10 PSA employees ordered to stay on board after 134 passengers were ordered off the plane at a refueling stop in Los Angeles.

Observers at Tampa International Airport said the aircraft took off in a northerly direction and then turned east. As it lifted off the runway, two FBI agents carrying rifles in cases could be seen sitting in a field a few hundred yards away.

Paul MacAllister, assistant director of the Hillsborough County Aviation Authority, said the hijackers had demanded a plane to take them to Africa, aeronautical maps of America's east coast and northeast Africa.

MacAllister said at the time the request was made there was no plane at the airport that could make the flight.

All flight operations were shut down at the airport and police set up roadblocks to keep arriving passengers away from the airport.

The red, white and silver 727 was taking on 9,000 gallons of fuel from two fuel trucks, MacAllister said, when the request came for a larger plane to take the hijackers to Africa.

FBI agents kept airport personnel inside the terminal after the hijackers radioed there was to be "nobody in sight" when the jet touched down. Flights destined for Tampa were diverted to Miami and other area airports.

A jeep trailing a 12-foot ladder carried to the plane aeronautical charts of the U.S. Eastern Seaboard as the hijackers had requested.

FBI agents showed the jeep driver and drivers of the fuel trucks a number of wanted posters, but there was no immediate word as to the hijackers' identities.

When the plane put down in Los Angeles, the male hijacker said, "I don't want these people. I want them off," and ordered the passengers to leave.

The hijacking began, one passenger said, when the man, about 25 and black, grabbed the pigtail of one of the stewardesses, pushed the shotgun into her back and started toward the crew's cabin.

The man poking at one passenger, swung his shotgun and threatened to "blow off heads" if everyone didn't follow orders. Heffernan said.

Uncover Bombs After Warnings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Police found bombs in banks in New York City, Chicago and San Francisco today hours after anonymous warnings to news media that bombs had been planted in nine banks as part of a plot to free "political prisoners."

At the Bank of America in San Francisco, a spokesman said an explosion occurred there last September in the safe-deposit box listed in the warnings. The spokesman described damage as minor, adding there were no injuries.

San Francisco police said electrically timed explosive devices found today in safe-deposit boxes at three banks in lower Manhattan — branches of the Marine Midland Trust Co., the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. and the First National City Bank.

Police bomb disposal squads and firemen in Chicago waited until time locks routine opened safe-deposit vaults before removing bombs with detonators without incident from First National Bank of Chicago, and Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust.

A locksmith had to be called to drill through a lock box to remove a bomb at Northern Trust Co.

"It would have made an effective bomb," said Police Capt. Kenneth O'Neill after the bomb was removed from the Marine Midland branch at 140 Broadway in New York.

Robert Daly, New York's deputy police commissioner, said all three bombs found in that city were active and would have killed anybody in the bank vaults.

Each was composed of a clock and battery recharger with a half-pound of smokeless black powder wrapped in a thin layer of styrofoam.

Handprinted special delivery letters received early today by media in Chicago and San Francisco said bombs had been planted in the banks.

An official of one of the banks, the Continental Illinois National Bank of Chicago, said no bomb was found there.

In New York, police were prevented from entering the vault of the Marine Midland branch until 8:30 a.m., when an automatic time clock allowed its massive door to be opened.

Three detectives went in and drilled open one of the 1,166 safe-deposit boxes in the vault to find the bomb.

The box was leased to a Charles Christopher Mohr, and police said the same name had been used in Chicago. No further identification was made immediately.

New York police said they had been alerted by San Francisco police at midnight.

"We are taking this thing very seriously. We are not regarding it as a hoax," said Howard Pierson, a deputy superintendent of the Chicago police. Police in each city made plans to be at the banks when the time vaults opened this morning.

Special delivery letters, with Chicago postmarks, were received Thursday night at two newspapers and a radio station in the San Francisco area and at two newspapers in Chicago.

Nixon, Sato In Meeting

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon and Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan have agreed to announce a final settlement today of the touchy Okinawa issue.

American officials were optimistic the Japanese would lower their trade barriers.

As the conclusion of a two-day Nixon-Sato summit conference approached, Secretary of State William P. Rogers told reporters the two leaders would definitely fix a date for the transfer of Okinawa from the United States to Japan.

A World War II battlefield and a political bone of contention since then, Okinawa has been administered by the United States since 1944. Sato has said the postwar era will not end until the populous island is returned to Japan.

The Nixon-Sato talks and separate cabinet-level conferences seemed headed for a trade-off with the United States yielding on political questions and Japan giving ground in the economic realm.

Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, a participant, told newsmen Thursday he expected substantive summit agreements in the trade sphere.

Lakeside Ministry Shows Growth

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — With church attendance on a national scale dwindling in recent years, concerned ministers are looking toward the nation's lakes and parks.

Since the nation's first full-time resort minister opened up his outdoor sanctuary at Lake Texoma in 1965, the Rev. Thomas E. Arney reports a 700 per cent growth.

"We've gone from the 3,000 who turned out for services in 1965 to more than 21,000 in 1971," said the Rev. Mr. Arney.

"And, while both the Texas and Oklahoma Councils of Churches have been a major financial sponsor of the ministry since its conception, we're getting more and more denominations each year participating actively."

Arney, a wartime B29 bomber navigator who was pastor of a Presbyterian church in McKinney at the time of his selection as minister-coordinator of the Lake Texoma United Ministry, Inc., said the Roman Catholic Church had put a pastor on his board for 1972. "This is another first for the leisure ministry," he said.

Arney directs 17 services each Sunday starting with Memorial Day and running through the Labor Day weekend.

"I had ministers assisting me from the Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist, Christian, Missouri Synod Lutheran, and Nazarene during the past summer. There will be a Catholic this year."

The leisure minister conducts non-denominational type services. He personally holds three of the services each Sunday and then has three full-time assistants during the summer months, plus a volunteer help from both lay and ordained ministers in the lake area.

These services accounted for the bulk of the 1971 total. However, there were 444 youngsters enrolled in the ministry's "Christian Happening" over a five week period at the Oklahoma State Park, with 37 adult leaders assisting, representing six churches including the Roman Catholic.

The summer aides the past year were Dr. Rod Gray, a retired Methodist minister; Janice Kragness, a disciple of Christ; and Bill Meyer, a Lutheran from the Missouri Synod.

"I think that we've become a fixture now," said Arney. "We have people who have come to expect us. They plan their weekend activities to participate in one or more services. Often the wife realizes the need for her husband to get away from the busy grind on weekends but doesn't like the idea of sacrificing their religion too. Now they can have both."

"I've seen the leisure ministry grow from its small start at Texoma to over a wide area. In 1967 a meeting was held at Sequoyah State Park in Oklahoma with 12 persons from other Southwestern lakes on hand. They wanted to start something at their parks and lakes."

"Out of that a national organization was formed and we held our annual meeting last month on the Lake of the Ozarks in Missouri," Arney said. "There were 137 persons registered from 19 states, including Alaska."

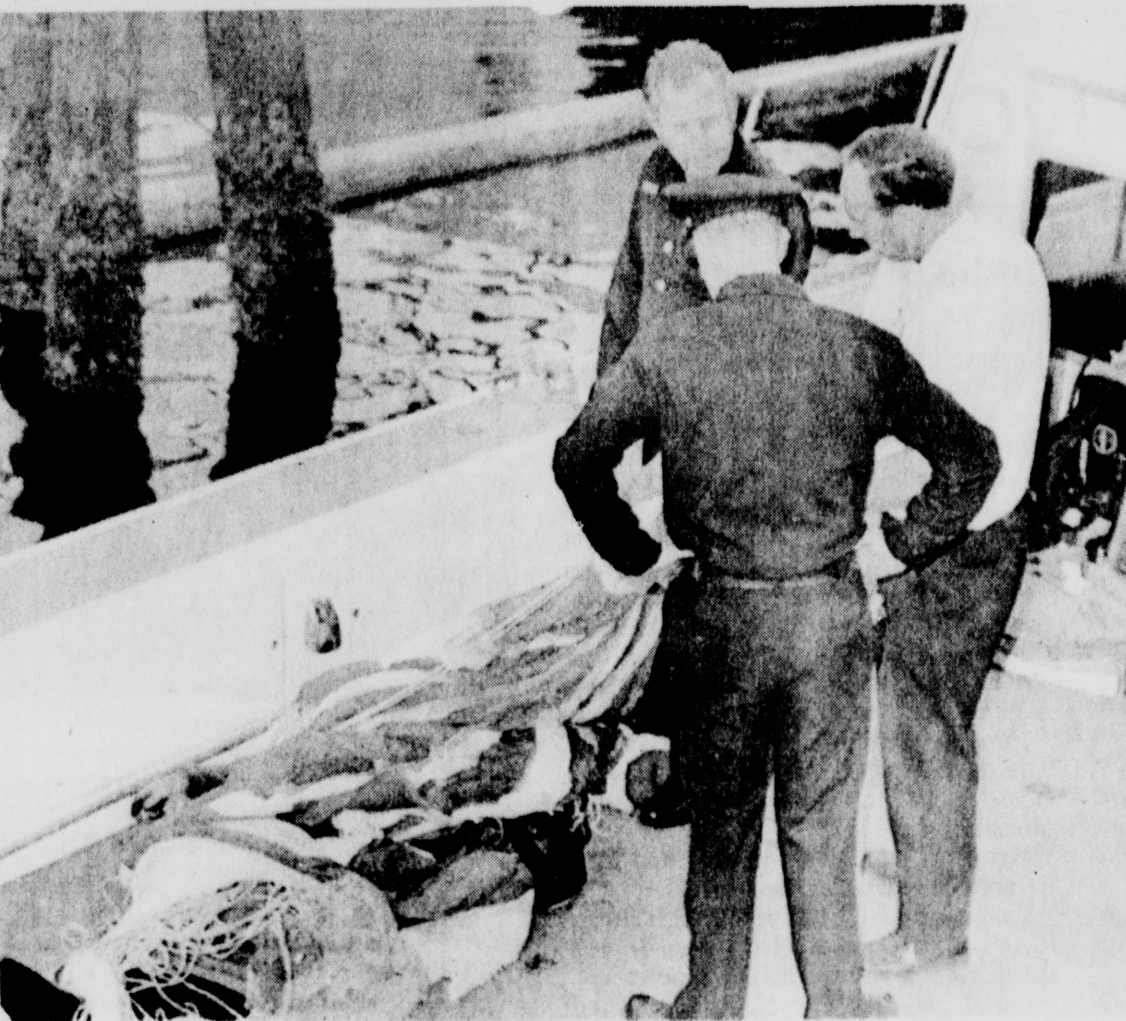

Arney said it is interesting to look back on the past seven years and note the changes in the attitude of not only lake visitors, but the ministry as a whole.

"Ministers everywhere are realizing that the church must go to the people and not become a stagnant witness," said the lake pastor, whose frocked collar is a trademark to Texoma's visitors. "The ministry must come alive. It must change with the times."

"I think the people who walk to the water's edge in a bathing suit to share communion with God on a Sunday at Lake Texoma get a special feeling that is completely different from what they get sitting in a pew all dressed up on a Sunday morning. And I know that those who have been baptized, whether by immersion or not, really felt God's hand when they came to God's outdoors to accept Him," Arney said.

Marriages, weddings, christenings and baptisms all are a regular part of the leisure ministry for Arney. Not, perhaps, in the numbers you find in a city church, but there is a definite growth not a decline.

Air Tragedy

The body of John Cook, 35, designer of an experimental light plane which crashed into Los Angeles Harbor this week, is covered up by firemen with his parachute after he bailed out, but plunged some 2,000 feet to his death when a wing struck and collapsed his chute. A second man parachuted into the water and survived. (UPI)

Discover Body In Farm Field

WRIGHT CITY, Mo. (AP) — The body of Mrs. Myrtle Louise Logan was found Thursday in a snow-covered eastern Missouri field not far from her grocery store, where she was apparently abducted Sunday night.

Authorities said she had been shot in the head twice.

The body was found by William Wyatt, a neighbor. Only a portion of it was visible above the snow.

Mrs. Logan, 66, disappeared after leaving her living quarters at the rear of the store to wait on someone who came in. She and her husband Forest had been eating dinner.

Missing was some money from the cash register. Mrs. Logan's coat was still in the store.

After Mrs. Logan's body was found an autopsy was performed at St. Louis County Hospital. The medical examiner's office said there were two bullet wounds behind the right ear and the shots had been fired at close range.

Forest Logan said of the killing:

"It just seems like whoever done it timed it just right."

Clothes Closet Sees Busy Year In Sweet Springs

(Democrat-Capitol Service)

SWEET SPRINGS — The year 1971 proved a busy one for Clothes Closet volunteers as they distributed some 6,066 articles of clothing, furniture and household items to needy families.

It was necessary to purchase 123 new items because the needs could not otherwise have been met. Among the items purchased were boys' and girls' shoes, socks, gloves, caps, jeans, shirts, jackets and undergarments.

Mrs. Mary Hahn made nine new dresses and the Saline County Christian Women's Fellowship donated 20 new dresses. Fruit jars were solicited and over 200 quart jars were placed where needed.

During the year eight family emergencies were met by providing the families with food, clothing and transportation.

In 1913, the Leonardo da Vinci painting, Mona Lisa, was recovered two years after it was stolen from the Louvre Museum in Paris.

Innovations Attempted In Religious Communication

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A pipe-smoking philosopher with a passion for the English language, Dr. Chad Walsh, is trying some new twists of verbal imagery to convey religious meanings to the modern generation.

"It's a matter of approaching the subject obliquely, appealing as much to the imagination and intuition as to the calculating mind," he says.

This indirect, subtler approach, contrasting with the old didactic style and traditional terminology, is in line with a change in outlook and mood developing in America.

"We're in one of the watershed periods when a change in consciousness and sensibility is taking place," Dr. Walsh said in an interview.

"There is a very profound revolt among the young against our sheer rationalism, which plays down the emotions and emphasizes only the mind. To them, logic is secondary and experience is primary."

Taking his cue from that transition, Dr. Walsh has put together a book, "God at Large," published by the Episcopal Church's Seabury Press, which packages classic Christian concepts in some unusual new wrappings.

He uses inkblots, Tarot cards, drawings, modern fairy tales, Hindu symbolism, poems, lieder, Zen koans (riddles) along with Biblical passages to get across the age-old Judeo-Christian teachings.

"Sometimes the traditional phrases and symbols wear out and have to be given a rest," he said. "They may be renewed, but right now, we're going to have to give them a vacation and express the content in new symbols," he added.

"It's an experiment born almost out of desperation to find a more effective style of communication that will be faithful to the Christian tradition," he said.

Dr. Walsh, 56, a professor of English at Beloit College, Beloit, Wis., and also an ordained Episcopal clergyman, said that religion, like other disciplines, tends to acquire a jargon that outsiders don't understand.

This tendency has heightened the need for new ways of communicating the faith, he said.

symbols have become bare, he has resorted to various new devices of art and words to draw people subtly into religious thought, using such techniques as the Zen riddles.

One goes:

"Why don't you give away what you don't have?"

He said students generally are alienated from the organized church and critical of American society as too materialistic and impersonal, but they are open to religion if it is presented in other than "its present cut and dried terms."

Bridge Replacement Program Is Underway

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the first step of a program to replace dangerous highway bridges, the federal government has found nearly one-sixth of the nation's bridges are "critically deficient."

The Federal Highway Administration, in a report to Congress today, said it already has approved replacement of 50 of the most-hazardous bridges in 49 states and Puerto Rico.

A spokesman said that, although 89,000 bridges are in the critical category, this means only that certain elements of the bridges are unsafe, not that whole structures are.

The report was compiled through surveys of states, which listed problem bridges among approximately 563,500 highway bridges across the country.

The report is the first made in compliance with the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1970, which authorized bridge replacements.

Replacement of the first 50 hazardous bridges will cost the government about half of the $250 million allotted for the first two years of the project.

A complete inventory of bridges that states say need replacing will not be completed until July 1, the highway administration said.

istrator. "We intend to pursue it vigorously."

That last major bridge disaster in the United States was the collapse on Dec. 15, 1967, of the Silver Bridge at Point Pleasant, W.Va. Forty-six persons died and nine were injured when the 40-year-old span fell into the Ohio River.

The FHWA said 24,000 of the bridges needing replacement are in the federal-aid highway system. The remaining 65,000 are on state and local roads.

Isolation Chamber Closed at Carthage

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Sheriff George Hickman has agreed to temporarily end use of an isolation cell at the Jasper County jail at Carthage, Mo.

Judge Elmo B. Hunter canceled a hearing in the U.S. District Court in Joplin Thursday after the agreement was reached in the judge's chambers.

The American Civil Liberties Union had sought a preliminary injunction to have Gary V. Johnson, 26, transferred to another cell, saying he was suffering cruel and unusual punishment.

In the complaint, the ACLU noted that a psychiatrist had testified at an earlier hearing that confinement in an isolation cell could disturb the mental state of Johnson.

Johnson is serving a one-year sentence after pleading guilty to charges of an affray in November when he allegedly jumped on another person during a preliminary hearing on an assault charge.

Request Is Renewed For Building Bonds

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' budget message, to be delivered to the House and Senate today, includes a renewed request for a building bond issue so Missouri can get back on the track of providing the buildings its institutions need. Last year he proposed a $250 million bond issue for capital improvements. That one died in the 1971 legislature. This time he increased the amount to $260 million to meet the impact of inflationary construction costs and changed the label from capital improvements to "statewide facilities investments"—a term that seems unlikely to catch on.

John C. Vaughn, state budget director and comptroller, said the change was made because many Missourians thought capital improvements meant building expenditures on the state capitol, a single building in Jefferson City. Here are the allocations Hearnes proposed for state institutions in the coming year if the bond issue clears the legislature and the voters: Higher education—University of Missouri (all four campuses) $69,880,000; Lincoln University at Jefferson City $2,961,625; Missouri Southern College at Joplin $101,500; Missouri Western College at St. Joseph $292,836; Central Missouri State at Warrensburg $10,610,820; Northeast Missouri State at Kirksville $7,280,392; Northwest Missouri State at Maryville $10,440,000; Southeast Missouri State at Cape Girardeau $6,853,974 and Southwest Missouri State at Springfield $5,759,041.

Correctional institutions — new maximum security prison $9,033,009; maximum security unit for the Training School for Boys at Booneville $2,091,910; Training School for Girls at Chillicothe $264,735 and the new Youth Center at Poplar Bluff $500,000.

Mental health — Fulton State Hospital $9,417,939; St. Joseph State Hospital $5,920,802; Nevada State Hospital $9,726,472; Farmington State Hospital $5,299,076; St. Louis State Hospital $12,442,223; Higginsville State School and Hospital $656,163; Marshall State School and Hospital $5,984,655; St. Louis State School and Hospital $4,249,440; Malcolm Bliss Mental Health Center in St. Louis $600,000; Western Missouri Mental Health Center $1,867,382 and administration $5,642,175. Health — State Chest Hospital at Mt. Vernon $1,612,000 and Ellis Fischel Cancer Hospital at Columbia $14,500,449.

They took their places at the "freshmen" ends of the bench. Burger concluded the 10-minute ceremony with brief words of welcome to his fellow Nixon administration appointees. He said: "We look forward to many years of work with you in our common cause."

This was the first time in memory that the general public was barred from an open session of the Supreme Court. A spokesman suggested the reason was the large number of guests. The succession of Powell and Rehnquist to the seats once held by the late Hugo L. Black and John M. Harlan brings the court up to full numerical strength of nine for the first time since the summer. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell introduced Powell and Rehnquist and presented framed letters of commission from President Nixon. They were read aloud by E. Robert Seaver, the court clerk.

Washington (AP) — Lewis F. Powell Jr. and William H. Rehnquist took their seats today on the Supreme Court in the first double swearing-in ceremony in 60 years. A packed courtroom to which all but invited guests were barred watched Powell, an aristocratic Virginia lawyer, and then Rehnquist, a young Goldwater conservative, take oaths administered by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

Command Discloses New Loss

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today belatedly disclosed the loss of a 12th American plane last month in the air war over Laos and North Vietnam and announced a U.S. helicopter was shot down in South Vietnam's central highlands on Thursday.

A spokesman said an Air Force OV10 forward air control plane directing air strikes against the Ho Chi Minh trail in southern Laos went down Christmas Eve, and the two crewmen are listed as missing. The loss was attributed to unknown causes.

The UH1 helicopter was shot down in the highlands during a supply mission to South Vietnamese troops 25 miles north of Kontum. Three Americans were wounded.

Fifteen minutes earlier, the U.S. Command said, an American gunship accidentally fired a rocket into a South Vietnamese position a mile away, killing one government soldier and wounding five. The command said the incident is under investigation.

It was the second such accidental attack in three days. On Tuesday, U.S. helicopters supporting South Vietnamese troops in the Mekong Delta killed one soldier and wounded seven.

Meanwhile, U.S. B52 bombers kept up their heavy attack against a North Vietnamese buildup which U.S. officials fear threatens an offensive during President Nixon's visit to China.

Thirty of the Stratofortresses dropped 900 tons of bombs on enemy supply routes, depots, troop concentrations and bunker complexes, informed sources reported.

Nearly half of the bombs were dropped in the southern half of the demilitarized zone near the Laotian border. The other strikes hit South Vietnam's central highlands along the northeastern border of Cambodia.

U.S. officials in Saigon and Washington have been saying that the North Vietnamese are preparing a major offensive in the highlands to embarrass President Nixon before or during his trip to Peking the last week of February.

The chief U.S. negotiator at the Paris peace talks, William J. Porter, warned the Communist delegations at the session Thursday that "the military efforts you seem to be planning on the western border of South Vietnam and elsewhere in Indochina aren't likely to achieve anything to your permanent advantage and will probably entail the loss of many more lives."

The only significant fighting thus far has taken place in the Tourmouring valley about 12 miles northeast of Dak To. But American sources say villagers have reported considerable movement by enemy forces in the rugged hills around Dak To and west of Kontum, a provincial capital.

Dak To was shelled Thursday night with 15 mortar rounds and one civilian was reported killed.

Meanwhile, it was reported that two North Vietnamese infantry regiments and a light artillery unit had moved from eastern Cambodia southward into South Vietnam's 3rd Military Region, which includes Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces.

To counter stepped-up enemy activity in the 3rd region, the South Vietnamese command disclosed a new drive along the Saigon River corridor ranging from 45 miles northwest of Saigon to the border. About 16,000 South Vietnamese paratroopers, rangers and infantrymen are taking part, many of them pulled out of permanent bases in eastern Cambodia.

Recycling Proposal Discussed

The possibilities of establishing a recycling project in Pettis County to handle unwanted papers and magazines was the main item of discussion at a breakfast meeting of the Pettis County Community Betterment Council Thursday at Bothwell Hotel.

Bill Hall, Sedalia director of industrial development, explained the work done by Earl Cannon, Division of Commerce and Industrial Development, Jefferson City, who has sent out feelers to area industries who might be interested in buying paper collected and initially processed by the Community Betterment Council.

It was revealed that prevailing prices for paper varied from $10 a ton for mixed paper to $30.50 a ton for new corrugated paper. Hall indicated that a preliminary price for a shredder and baler was set at $16,000. Further discussions on such a purchase with officials of the Packaging Corp., Kansas City, may be held at the next meeting. The possibility of mounting such a device on a truck which would make regular collections, as well as funding the project, will be explored in depth at a later date, it was decided.

Frank Schwarzer, executive director of the Show-Me Regional Planning Commission, said the commission had been approved to conduct a six-county study on recycling waste products, but funding for such a study is not yet available.

The next meeting of the Council will be at 7:30 a.m., Feb. 3, at Hughesville.

Thousands Flock To Visit Pat

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (AP) — Tens of thousands jammed the streetsides of Abidjan in the rain today to give Pat Nixon what she called a "rousing welcome" of drumming, singing and cheering.

The crowds lining the First Lady's seven-mile motorcade route from Port Bouet Airport to the presidential palace were the largest of her three-nation African tour. Mrs. Nixon's press secretary said officials estimated the throng at 250,000 to 300,000 but independent estimates put it at about 100,000. The city's population is about 500,000.

Despite the rain, Mrs. Nixon insisted on standing in her car to wave to the cheering merchants and school children who got the day off to greet the First Lady as the official guest of their president, Felix Houphouet-Boigny.

Ivory Coast is the final stop of Mrs. Nixon's tour. She visited Liberia for the inauguration of President William R. Tolbert and continued to Ghana Wednesday.

Benefit Broadcast Is Planned

Cablevision's locally-originated channel 2 will hold a broadcast from 6:15 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. Monday to raise money for the Bill Beck Benefit Fund.

A benefit dance held Dec. 20 at the Moose Lodge netted $1,130, according to the coordinator of the fund drive, Dickie Phillips, Warsaw. Phillips' was one of several area bands which donated their time at the dance.

Bill Beck, Route 2, has been an arthritic patient for several years and became confined to bed more than a year ago. The benefit dance was arranged to raise money for a Circ-o-Lectric bed for Beck which would enable him to change positions in bed. Phillips said that the bed has been purchased but $450 more is needed to pay the bill in its entirety.

He expressed the hope that the telethon will bring in the additional amount. Any amount in excess of the cost of the Circ-o-Lectric bed will be donated to the Children's Therapy Center, Phillips said.

Checking Posting Of Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nationwide spot checks by the Internal Revenue Service have disclosed widespread noncompliance with government regulations requiring posting of freeze-period ceiling prices.

"We're not satisfied," said Jerry Portney, deputy IRS assistant for stabilization. "They've got until the 17th to shape up."

Jan. 17 is the date set by the Price Commission for final compliance with the posting requirements. But businesses are supposed to be complying now, unless given the extra grace period by IRS.

On another Phase 2 front, the Cost of Living Council Wednesday ordered IRS to investigate whether some food and clothing prices have gone up in violation of price controls.

The investigation stems from the latest Consumer Price Index which showed higher prices for most meats, and a 2.8-percent increase in clothing prices during the three months covered by the freeze. The freeze on wages and prices ended Nov. 14.

The spot checks will determine whether stores are exceeding Phase 2 regulations that allow prices to rise only as they reflect increased costs, the council said.

More than 6,000 IRS agents made spot checks of retail outlets beginning last Monday as the requirements for posting freeze-period ceiling prices went into effect.

In New York City, checks showed 72 per cent of stores in Brooklyn were not in compliance, and 60 per cent noncompliance in Manhattan.

According to the IRS sampling, the state of Virginia showed a 40 per cent noncompliance, the Southeastern United States 45 per cent, Nebraska 50 per cent, Illinois 45 per cent, and New Mexico 65 per cent.

"They were simply not aware of the regulation," Portney said. "They said, 'We're glad you came in. Now we know what the rules are.'"

Portney said in each case store owners were advised of the regulations, given a sheet of paper explaining them, and were told that agents would be back to check them before Jan. 17.

He said the IRS will refrain from citing stores for violating the rules until Jan. 17. "After Jan. 17, there's no more grace," he said.

Under the Price Commission's rules, retail stores with annual sales of $100,000 or more are required to meet the posting regulations in each department of their stores. In addition, they must post ceiling prices on all nonexempt food items.

Regulations for stores with annual sales under $100,000 require prominent posting of freeze-period prices on the 40 top items.

The IRS is insisting on prominent posting of prices, saying that the price lists must be where customers can see them without the aid of a store employee.

The law provides a civil penalty of up to $2,500 for violations of price regulations. But it is doubtful the government will seek such a fine except in the most-extreme cases.

Vote For Official's Ouster

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chile's lower house voted 80 to 59 Thursday night to impeach the No. 2 man in the Chilean government, but President Salvador Allende urged his Marxist supporters to keep the peace.

The vote in the House of Deputies automatically suspended Interior Minister Jose Toha from the Cabinet until the Senate—sitting as a jury—finds him guilty or innocent of charges that he permitted illegal armed groups to operate and violated the right of peaceful protest. The interior minister is first in line of presidential succession.

"The grounds on which the House impeached Toha were illegal," Allende angrily told 1,500 of his supporters who massed before the presidential mansion after midnight. "If they overthrow him as minister, I'll see to it that tomorrow he is appointed to another cabinet post."

But Allende, facing what may be the gravest crisis since taking office 14 months ago, urged his supporters to remain within the law.

The Christian Democratic party, the National party and the Radicals—which together make up strong majorities in the House and Senate—accused Toha, 48 and a Socialist like Allende, of violating the constitution by his actions as chief of the nation's police forces.

Testimony Thursday before the House said he tolerated such allegedly illegal armed groups as Allende's Cuban-trained bodyguard and the Socialist and Communist party youth brigades. Opposition deputies also testified Toha permitted police to break up the march last month by 5,000 women protesting food shortages.

Farm Roundup

Use of Fertilizers Is Still Increasing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite rising prices farmers used more fertilizer last year, including 5.1 per cent more nitrogen, phosphate and potash, the three primary nutrients, the Agriculture Department says.

Fertilizer prices rose eight per cent in 1971, according to a preliminary report issued Tuesday.

Prices charged farmers for most nitrogen and potash fertilizers are expected to "level out" in 1972, but phosphate costs may edge close to the government price ceilings, the report said.

Over-all, 40.8 million gross tons of commercial fertilizer were used nationwide during the year ended last June 30, a 3.5 per cent increase from 1969-70. Farmers racked up $2.1 billion in fertilizer bills, a gain of $160 million from a year earlier.

Total usage was a record 16.8 million tons during the year. Nitrogen application rose 6.3 per cent, phosphate 4.7, and potash 3.5.

More than one-third of all fertilizer used in farming is applied to corn. Wheat is second, and cotton third, the report said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is stepping up warnings to livestock producers that tighter controls on the use of the growth hormone DES must be closely adhered to or crackdowns will be forthcoming.

Last month the USDA announced the new DES restrictions will go into effect on Jan. 8. Beginning then, a producer shipping cattle or sheep to a slaughter plant must certify the animals were not fed DES at all or that the feeding was halted at least seven days earlier.

Another reminder of the Jan. 8 date was issued early this week. Still another came Wednesday from Don Paarlberg, USDA economics director.

In a speech prepared for the Kansas Livestock Association meeting in Wichita, Paarlberg said: "We in the department believe that the new certification program can be effective if properly followed by the industry."

However, if samples continue to crop up showing traces of this growth stimulant, and if our legislators are ultimately faced with a choice between possible health hazards and an increase in costs to producers and consumers of beef, you know they will choose to lessen the hazard to health."

Audit Plan Brings Out Bad Tempers

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Democratic tempers flared Thursday afternoon when House members discovered a letter from Republican state Auditor Christopher "Kit" Bond in their mailboxes.

Bond distributed a "confidential questionnaire" with a cover letter stating his office is auditing the General Assembly. The questions included matters ranging from satisfactory expense allowances to a grading of the performance of the legislative research staff and the Office on Fiscal Affairs.

House Speaker James E. Godfrey, D-St. Louis, called the communication ridiculous. He said he would ask the Democratic caucus to ignore it.

House Appropriations Chairman E. J. "Lucky" Cantrell, D-Overland, accused Bond of using "over-priced auditors to play games."

Others accused Bond of using his office for campaign purposes. All concluded the questions had nothing to do with a financial audit.

Bond has said he would announce his plans late this month or in early February on whether he will run for the Republican nomination for governor.

Purchase Smithton Building

(Democrat-Capital Service)

SMITHTON — Only one item other than routine business was brought before the Smithton city council on Wednesday night action.

The council members authorized the mayor to accept the proposal of Mrs. Willie Hoehns, allowing the city to purchase a 40 by 40 foot building, located north of the post office building.

In related action the councilmen also authorized mayor B. C. Clemons, to execute a note with the Smithton Bank for the sum of $2,500 to pay Mrs. Hoehns for the building.

According to Clemons the building is suitable for storage of equipment and materials of the city sewer system and other municipal purposes.

Mrs. Barbara McMullin, city clerk, said the money to pay off the bank note will come from the general revenue funds of the water and sewer systems.

In regular business the council approved payment of city salaries, materials bills and office supply statements. They also approved monthly and semi-annual financial statements.

Poll Shows Americans Still Aiding Veterans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the unpopularity of the Vietnam War "has rubbed off, to some extent, on those who fought it," a nationwide poll shows Americans are doing a lot to help returning veterans.

But most ex-servicemen polled didn't feel they were owed any special treatment or thanks.

"The returning servicemen seem less preoccupied with the way things should be, and are content to accept things as given and do the best they can to adjust to civilian life," the 270-page report said.

The poll was undertaken by Louis Harris and Associates Inc. for the Veterans Administration at a cost of $183,000.

The attitude of nonwhites and those who didn't graduate from high school was different from the total view. "Among these servicemen there is a real feeling society owes them something for their efforts," the report said.

While 62 per cent of all veterans polled said readjusting to civilian life was not more difficult than most people imagined, 53 per cent of the nonwhites felt the opposite.

But 58 per cent of all veterans agreed "people at home just didn't understand what you have been through in the armed forces." Among nonwhites the figure was 72 per cent.

VA Administrator Donald E. Johnson told a news conference Wednesday he is pleased that the survey gave the VA "a good report card in most aspects" but the real worth of the survey lies in the future.

"It provides a scientific blueprint which can be of great assistance to everyone involved in and dedicated to the constant improvement and strengthening of our national program for veterans," he said.

Harris took the poll between Aug. 15 and Aug. 30. His organization conducted personal interviews in 1,490 households without Vietnam-era veterans. 2,003 veterans recently separated from service and 789 business executives representing prospective employers.

Noting that 48 per cent of the public and employers say the reception given veterans today is worse than that extended returning servicemen from earlier wars, the survey said:

"The whole question of treatment of returning veterans is a serious burden on the conscience of the American public."

Plan San Quentin Closure

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — The warden of San Quentin Prison, the four old fortress on San Francisco Bay soon to be closed, says he feels "a little nostalgic to see the old ship go down."

But Louis S. Nelson, the career penologist who has headed San Quentin since 1967, concedes the place is "infamous."

For residents of the surrounding area, Gov. Ronald Reagan's plans to wind up the long and checkered career of San Quentin within three years brought a sigh of relief.

In his State of the State message to the California Legislature Thursday, Reagan said the convict population of the 121-year-old penitentiary would be reduced from its present 2,214 to 1,500 in the coming year.

It will be abandoned forever by the end of 1974, Reagan said.

The governor gave no specific reason, but the cluttered old prison has been the scene of recurrent violence throughout its history. A burst of bloodshed last Aug. 21 gave impetus to movements to shut it down.

In that episode, three guards and three prisoners died. The dead included the revolutionary black convict George Jackson.

A state Department of Corrections committee of inquiry recommended two months later that both San Quentin and Folsom Prison be closed as "not secure or safe."

The governor said new maximum security facilities would be planned, but Department of Corrections officials said expansion of existing prisons was probable, rather than a new facility.

"We are infamous," Nelson commented. "When you think of prisons in California you think of San Quentin."

"When you think of prisons' ills you think about San Quentin."

"I feel a little nostalgic to see the old ship go down."

He used the word "ship" advisedly, for that is how the prison began in 1851, as a rotting hulk that confined Gold Rush miscreants.

A total of 405 men and women have paid the supreme penalty for their crimes behind San Quentin's walls, 215 by hanging and 190 in a green-walled chamber on the ground floor after gas became the method of execution in 1938.

The chamber has stood va-

Dilemma Of Nixon In Asian Quagmire

WASHINGTON — One sure thing you know after you've been in this town as government official and newspaperman: no President, of any party, is going to tell the public the whole truth about what makes him lie awake nights.

Rowan He was a lot farther from the whole truth when he tried to justify the recent heavy bombings of North Vietnam.

Mr. Nixon's more rabid critics are calling him a liar for saying that North Vietnam has made it clear that it will not release U.S. POWs in exchange for the mere setting of a date of total U.S. withdrawal. As much as I would like to see the President call the Communists' bluff, those intimately involved in the secret diplomacy say the President is leveling with the public on this point.

They say Hanoi insists that before the POWs are released the United States must agree to a new government in Saigon that meets the total approval of the Communists. Mr. Nixon has decided on a total U.S. military withdrawal which will leave the grave risk of an early Communist military takeover, but he refuses steadfastly to become party to the ouster of the current Saigon regime and its replacement with a pro-Communist clique.

So President Nixon has confided to intimates that he just doesn't know how to get back U.S. airmen imprisoned by the Communists.

His frustration over this is just one reason why he approved the bombings which, ironically, added to the number of prisoners he doesn't know how to get back.

America's best allies have criticized the new bombings as a measure of Mr. Nixon's desperation. The Toronto Globe and Mail saw "the United States now again relying on air power and massive bombing raids to save its decaying position... it has never worked."

The Times of London said the President's words "really conceal Mr. Nixon's understandable anxiety that Vietnam might blow up in his face." The British were of the view that the one thing Mr. Nixon wanted least was to have to go to Peking while Communist attacks proved Vietnamization to be a colossal failure.

But top people in government insist that "Vietnamization" is still a viable concept. They think the South Vietnamese can now "back it" militarily, and even hawkish Republicans say privately that, if the South Vietnamese can't defend themselves after all these years, they never will be able to.

The real reason for those bombings was not South Vietnam, but Laos and Cambodia.

Mr. Nixon has pretty much figured out how to get out of Vietnam under circumstances that will not look, immediately, like a capitulation to Communism.

But he hasn't the foggiest idea what to do about Laos and Cambodia. If the Communists would agree to an international conference, the whole of Indochina could be wrapped up in a neat package, the U.S. could get out, and almost everyone would say good riddance.

But the Communists say no to every proposal for a conference.

This wouldn't be so terrible if those violently controversial incursions into Cambodia in April 1970 had dealt the Communists the near-fatal blows the administration pretended they would at the time. But the reality now is that it will be a long way down the road before the Cambodian military can effectively erase the threat of a Communist military takeover.

And Laos? Almost 11 years ago President John F. Kennedy concluded that Laos was the wrong place and the wrong time for the U.S. to make a military stand against world Communism. U.S. intervention would be 100 times less logical today.

Laos has no semblance of unity or order; it suffers widespread killing that never ends; it has no economy; its war, interneine and otherwise, crescendos with one season and subsides with another, but Laos is never long in either position.

Add this foreign policy nightmare to the maddening riddle of Cambodia and the anguish over GI prisoners and you begin to understand the forces that lead a President to bomb anew, and bomb again, and bomb and bomb. Always hoping to find answers in the smoldering debris.

If time shows, as the Globe and Mail insisted, that the bombings have "never worked," we shall be left with a President even more frustrated.

What, then, does the future hold?

By DOUG KNEIBERT

But at my back I always hear
Time's winged chariot hurrying near;

Marvel's line, while poetically perfect, is not always the way it is. One isn't apt to hear time's winged chariot that often. Instead one day you will stop, dumbfounded, and ask yourself—"Can it have been 10 years ago?"

Christmas cards have a way of doing this sort of thing to you, and one I received recently from an old Navy mate had precisely that effect.

We have heard from the Menekeims every Christmas since 1962, following Doug's career with interest ever since he left my old ship a year later.

Doug was a Naval Academy graduate, anchor man or close to it, and came aboard the USS Sproston (DDE-577) in Pearl Harbor shortly before we deployed for the Western Pacific to join the Seventh Fleet. Our task group was then patrolling off the coast of a small Southeast Asian nation where it was feared fighting might break out. It was called Laos. You didn't hear much about that other country, South Vietnam, back then.

Ensign Menekeim was assigned to the engineering department, became a "snipe" and for all intents and purposes disappeared from the view of us operations department officers, hidden amid the pipes, boilers and evaporators below decks. Snipes were generally discriminated against as a lesser form of marine life.

It wasn't long, though, before Doug began to rotate through other departments, eventually ending up as my Combat Information Center officer. It was soon clear to me that while Doug may not have set any academic records at Annapolis, he was a fine officer. I liked the cut of his job from the beginning.

The Bureau of Personnel agreed, and gave Doug command of a coastal mine-sweeper when he left the Sproston. This was a plum billet for a junior officer, and although I had since gone to a good staff job with a San Diego destroyer division, I envied Doug his command.

This Christmas we read that Doug had returned to Pearl Harbor to command his own destroyer-escort, with the rank of lieutenant commander.

Your own ship! In all the armed services, nothing compares with it. The responsibility is awesome; the satisfaction unequalled by any other assignment.

Who but the skipper of a man-o-war knows such a sublime sense of independence? He is the undisputed master of all he surveys: court, judge and jury, father confessor. Behind him stand roughly six centuries of encrusted naval tradition, investing him with powers and burdens borne by few men.

This is the tradition that Doug Menekeim carries on, and I think I know something of what he felt when, regaled in dress whites and sword, he saluted and said those irrevocable words, "I relieve you sir."

Smooth sailing, Captain.

The Pettis County chapter of the American Red Cross, under the chairmanship of Mrs. John Knaus, sent 150 ditty bags to American servicemen in Vietnam this Christmas, as it has every Christmas of the war.

Here is a reply received from Air Force Maj. Eugene Pittenger:

"For the men in Vietnam who received the ditty bags you prepared, I wish to say a profound and heartfelt 'Thank You.'"

"More than the gift itself, the knowledge of the time spent and the awareness that there are those who remember and care for the many very lonesome young men here, was a part in making their day better. The bags were received on Christmas Eve. For some, the Christmas card in the bag was the only mail received."

"Many of the bags and items some individuals did not need are being collected and given to a local orphanage, so small and neglected children will also receive happiness from your efforts."

"Thank you again for your time, your efforts, and for remembering."

'Fun City' Scandal A Blow to Lindsay

Mayor John V. Lindsay admittedly has a lot of "christma" and will no doubt make a strong contender for the Democratic presidential nomination. Only trouble is that the mess which is New York City keeps following him around like a stray dog.

On Wednesday a grand jury reported that New York City's Medicaid program has been so exploited by those participating in it that nearly $1 billion in taxpayers' money has gone "down the drain."

The grand jury report accused doctors, dentists, druggists, nursing homes, patients and city agencies of abusing the program on all levels. If reserved most of the blame, however, for the city's Department of Social Services, a branch of New York City's mammoth welfare organization. It said the department's supervision of the Medicaid program has been "disorganized, if not chaotic."

Even for corruption-numb New Yorkers, the revelations made big news. A state Supreme Court justice called them "scandalous and shocking."

The Medicaid mess comes on the heels of the recently exposed police scandal in New York City, which a blue-ribbon commission is still trying to unravel. Tales of bribery, extortion, payoffs and shakedowns that have come out of this investigation have tainted the reputation of "New York's finest" for years to come.

Mayor Lindsay is fond of touting the attractions of what he has dubbed "Fun City." But we doubt if New Yorkers see much cause for humor in this, the latest scandal of the mayor's administration.

And if this sort of thing happens in New York, what reasons do voters have for thinking John Lindsay is presidential timber, christma or not?

Kissinger Directing U.S. Foreign Policy

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Owlsh, offish Henry Kissinger, the foreign policy wizard, is simply over his head in paperwork.

He is trying to serve President Nixon as a one-man State Department. But the paperwork is too voluminous, the problems too overwhelming even for the brilliant Kissinger to master.

Still he tries to manage every foreign crisis, to absorb every new detail, to advise the President on every development. During the three hectic weeks before Christmas, the secret White House Papers show, Kissinger had his fingers in the following pies:

✓ He directed the top-level strategy sessions on the Indian-Pakistani conflict. He submitted the option papers, for example, that persuaded President Nixon to dispatch a naval task force into the Bay of Bengal.

✓ Kissinger compiled a grim situation report showing a dangerous intensification of North Vietnamese military pressure in Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam. Not only were our Laotian allies in possible peril, but the government we support in Cambodia appeared to be in danger of collapse. He recommended air strikes against North Vietnam.

✓ He orchestrated the delicate U.S. strategy in the Middle East. Under his direction, Ambassador George Bush probed and pressed in the backrooms of the United Nations for a diplomatic solution while Egypt and Syria deployed their forces for a military showdown. To keep a military balance, Kissinger urged the shipment of Phantom jets to Israel.

✓ He became deeply involved in preparing the new international monetary agreement. President Nixon's unilateral economic moves last August caused a diplomatic backfire around the world. He did not consult with America's trading partners. He offered no explanation to the International Monetary Fund. He ignored the diplomatic niceties. In all this, he was advised chiefly by Treasury Secretary John Connally. Kissinger was called in, finally, to unravel the international disorder.

✓ He stage-managed the President's globe-trotting to placate ruffled allied leaders. Not only were the briefing papers prepared under Kissinger's supervision, but he traveled with the President. Kissinger seemed to be everywhere—conferring with British Prime Minister Edward Heath, breakfasting with French President Georges Pompidou and, after hours, hitting the night spots with beautiful young ladies.

✓ All the while, Kissinger continued to prepare for the presidential pilgrimages to Peking and Moscow. He not only handled the arrangement but plotted the big-power chess that the President will play with our two chief adversaries.

✓ More than anyone else, Kissinger served as ring master for the three-ring Paris peace talks, Vienna SALT talks and Brussels NATO conference that were going on simultaneously behind closed doors. He called the signals from the White House.

✓ He also kept close watch through horn-rimmed glasses upon such far-flung trouble spots as Cuba, Chile and Korea. He monitored the diplomatic cables, intelligence digests and situation reports that poured into Washington from around the globe. His interpretations and recommendations, largely guided the President in setting policy everywhere.

✓ Day after day, Kissinger processed dozens of option papers, security memoranda and briefing papers for the President. Kissinger also worked on several major national security studies on such subjects as "Prisoners of War" and "Laos Peace Initiatives."

In short, Henry Kissinger has been running U.S. foreign policy out of his basement office in the White House. The final decisions, to be sure, have been made by the President. But Kissinger has guided the President's thinking and directed the implementation of his policies.

The State Department, with its worldwide Foreign Service network, has been relegated largely to a messenger service. Kissinger accepts briefing papers from the State Department, and the department's specialists participate in White House strategy sessions.

But the final formulation of policy is handled by Kissinger. In preparation for the President's Peking visit, for example, veteran strategists at the State Department submitted briefing papers but weren't invited to join the advance party now in Peking. This mission is completely controlled by Kissinger.

Yet Kissinger has been able to operate in almost total secrecy. Congress has sought in vain to find out what he's doing, but he has refused to testify as Secretary of State Bill Rogers is required to do. The State Department, which is charged with the conduct of foreign affairs, can't even keep up with Kissinger.

Not until we got hold of the White House Papers has the public been given a glimpse into Kissinger's secret operations.

One difference between a good dummy player and a great one is that the great dummy player plans the entire play at the start. South was a good dummy player. He felt his best chance was to play dummy's jack of spades at trick one. He was delighted when it held the trick. He noted that it was important to keep East out of the lead so he led dummy's king of clubs, continued with the 10 and let it ride. West took the trick with his queen and shifted to the deuce of hearts. South could count eight top tricks. He could make his ninth by a heart finesse or being able to cash four diamond tricks. The finesse was a 50 per cent chance. Good player South knew that the chance for four diamond tricks was better so he rose with the ace of hearts and wound up with just eight tricks.

Do you see why a great dummy player would have made his contract? Before going after the clubs he would test the diamonds by leading out the ace-king and queen. The jack would not fall so when the moment of truth arrived he would know that his only chance would be to finesse successfully in hearts.

Of course, a great dummy player might make over-tricks. He might decide from the way West discarded on the third diamond that West held the club queen.

Arbour, Three Blues Arrested After Melee

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The coach and three team members of the St. Louis Blues of the National Hockey League were arrested early today. They were charged in connection with a fight that broke out between the Blues and fans during a game with the Philadelphia Flyers at the Spectrum Thursday night.

Charged were Coach Al Arbour, Phil Roberto, John Arbour and Floyd Thompson.

Both Arbours, who are not related, and Roberto were charged with assault and battery on a police officer, disorderly conduct and conspiracy.

Thompson was charged with aggravated assault and battery on a police officer, disorderly conduct and conspiracy.

All were to be arraigned and post bail prior to being afforded a preliminary hearing, probably next week, police said.

None of the fans was arrested. The game was delayed for 30 minutes because of the melee.

A penalty against the Blues touched off the 25 minute fracas during intermission between the second and third periods. The Blues went on to win it 3-2.

The Flyers were leading 2-0 at the end of the second period when Blues coach Al Arbour walked on to the ice to protest a call by referee John Ashley. Ashley slapped the Blues with a two minute bench penalty for the offense against the rules.

Incensed, Arbour followed Ashley toward the end of the rink and a fan dashed him with an unidentified liquid which brought 14 of the 17 Blues off the bench to his defense and the fracas was on.

Blues defenseman Bob Plager entered the stands while his teammates stood on the ramp between two sections of seats and swung their sticks at the fans.

A group of Philadelphia policemen stepped in to separate the hockey players and fans and the Blues were escorted out of the arena. The Flyers had already gone to their locker room when the melee began.

Coach Arbour, defenseman John Arbour, winger Phil Roberto and left wing Floyd Thompson were questioned by police about the near-riot.

Four fans were injured and the St. Louis coach required 10 stitches to close a wound in his head. Defenseman Arbour also required 15 stitches to close a head wound.

Sidney Salomon Jr., president and chairman of the board of the St. Louis Blues declared after the fracas that he will file a suit against the Philadelphia Police Department for "the worst case of police brutality I have ever seen."

Boston Grabs Eastern Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"They had everything going for them. This was the game they had to win."

Speaking was Buffalo Sabres Coach Punch Imlach after the Boston Bruins defeated his team 5-2 Thursday night and assumed first place in the National Hockey League East Division.

"We had a big incentive. After all, first place was in sight. We expect to stay on top but it's going to be a tough struggle," said Boston Coach Tommy Johnson.

The triumph gave the Bruins 59 points, one more than the New York Rangers in the NHL East race.

Phil Esposito and Bobby Orr scored to give Boston a 2-0 edge after the first period, followed by singles by Bruins Fred Stanfield, John McKenzie and Ed Westfall.

In the night's other NHL contest, the St. Louis Blues rallied for a 3-2 victory over the Philadelphia Flyers in a fight-delayed game.

The Blues knocked in three third-period goals after a second-period fracas with fans and police delayed play for 45 minutes.

St. Louis Coach Al Arbour protested a referee's call, earning his team a two-minute bench penalty. Arbour complained to referee John Ashley and a fan allegedly dumped a cup of beer on the coach, touching off the melee in which one policeman was slightly injured. Four fans were hurt and Arbour sustained a gash on the head.

Philadelphia took the lead on goals by Bob Kelly and Jimmy Johnson. Gary Unger and Phil Roberto scored to tie it 2-2 in the final period and Gary Sabourin notched the winning goal.

Bufs Drop 70-66 Decision to Houston

KANSAS CITY (AP) — It's all quiet on the Big Eight Conference basketball front tonight, eve of the opening of the league season.

Two conference games are scheduled Saturday night. Oklahoma goes to Iowa State, and Oklahoma State visits Nebraska.

Colorado was the only Big Eight club in action Thursday night as the Buffs dropped a 70-66 decision to Houston.

Colorado, dropping behind with 8:56 remaining, managed to keep it close until Sonny Willis made four decisive free throws in the final 20 seconds.

The Buffs were led by Marc Teets with 19 points. Teammate Scott Wedman contributed 14.

A's Odom Shot Stopping Burglar

MACON, Ga. (AP) — "I was thinking I would never pitch again after the first shot. After the second shot I thought it was all over."

Those were the words of Oakland Athletics pitcher Johnny "Blue Moon" Odom, recounting the incident Thursday in which he was wounded by a would-be burglar.

The 26-year-old right-hander was shot in the neck and side, but doctors said his pitching career probably would not be affected.

Odom, a Macon resident, had been trying to question the man about an attempted burglary when the man shot him and fled. Police said they had launched an "intensive search" for the attacker.

A pitcher at Ballard-Hudson High School here in his youth, Odom was signed by the A's in 1964 on a $75,000 bonus contract. He pitched a no-hitter in 1970 and was 10-12 for the A's last season.

He described the events leading to the gunfire this way:

Odom's wife came to the liquor store where he was working and said a house next to his mother's had been the target of an attempted burglary. Several people saw the young man who made the attempt and followed him.

"He passed by the package store where I was working and my wife ran in and told me the man had tried to rob our neighbor's house," Odom told them left the store in pursuit.

"I finally caught up with him and asked him to stop. I told him I wanted to ask him a few questions. He turned around and said, 'What for?' and pulled out the gun and started shooting."

The man fired three times from about 15 feet, wounding Odom in the neck and side and missing once.

The pitcher then fired back with a gun of his own, but said he apparently missed the fleeing man.

Odom said he was carrying the gun because "any time you follow a burglar they might have something to shoot at you with."

He said his attacker joined two other men and disappeared.

Mrs. Odom took her husband to a local hospital, and he entered under his own power.

Odom said he would be able to report on time for spring training next month.

"I'm real lucky," he said from his hospital bed. "I should be out in three days."

FLORIDA DERBY SET

HALLANDALE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Derby at one mile and an eighth for 3-year-olds, this year will carry a purse of $125,000 added at Gulfstream Park on closing day, March 2.

The meeting, which opens Jan. 17, will see 16 stakes worth $770,000. The Gulfstream Park Handicap is set for Feb. 19 and the Pan American Handicap for Feb. 26. Both have an added value of $100,000.

Wooden's Prescription

Overpower UCLA?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — How do you beat UCLA?

The prescription comes from none other than Bruins Coach John Wooden.

"We could be overpowered," he says. "Our forwards, at 6-5 and 6-6 and 170-180 pounds, are smaller and lighter than most forwards we'll face in the conference. We're more apt to suffer in a rough game, especially if officiating gets loose and most likely on the road."

But eight opponents have been unable to find the formula thus far. As the Bruins open their conference season at Oregon State tonight, they are top-ranked nationally, leading the nation in scoring, and lopsided favorites to win the Pacific-8 once again and enter the NCAA playoffs in pursuit of their sixth straight national title.

This is Wooden's kind of team—quick, agile, pressing, fast-breaking, disciplined, deep. There is no Lew Alcindor or Sidney Wicks to pass the ball to and then get out of the way. But there is plenty of talent to be molded by the decade's most successful college basketball coach, and Wooden says, "I'm enjoying it very much."

It takes much longer for the coach to describe his team's strength than its weaknesses.

"We have good balance, speed, quickness, and the good big man," he says. "We have a blend of good outside shooting and the good inside game. Our strength is in running and pressing, but I think we can play most any type of game and have a good chance."

To add to the nightmares of frustrated opposing coaches, three of UCLA's starters are sophomores—Keith Wilkes, a catlike 6-6 forward who Wooden says might have started on last year's team if freshmen were eligible. Greg Lee, a strong, clever 6-4 guard, and Bill Walton.

"If we build around anyone it's Walton," says Wooden of the redhaired 6-11 center with the weak knees and the quick hands who has overmatched everyone he's faced in his first eight varsity games.

Last week, when the Bruins faced Ohio State in what was supposed to be their first real test, Walton personally took care of the Buckeyes' two stars, guard Allan Hornsby and center Luke Witte.

He swatted down everything Hornsby put up near the basket, swept the 7-foot Witte off the boards and got the UCLA fast break winging as the Bruins jumped in front 30-8 and coasted in.

"This should have been a test for us," says Wooden with almost a note of disappointment in his voice. "One of our weaknesses might be how we will do when we get under pressure."

If they should get under pressure—and it could happen against Oregon State tonight—chances are the Bruins will look to Henry Bibby, the only senior in the starting lineup. He's a cool, sharpshooting guard who seems to have become even more effective with the advent of Walton.

In the UCLA set offense, Bibby plays the left wing, where Keith Erickson and John Walton used to play, and Walton takes the low post, posing a neat dilemma for opponents who want to concentrate on one of the two.

"If Bibby's man drops back, he can shoot," Wooden says. "If he moves up Bibby can drive around him or take the ball in to Walton."

But this weekend, when the Bruins open their conference season at Oregon State and Oregon, they might not have their big man at full strength.

Walton came down with strep throat after the Ohio State game last Thursday and hasn't practiced since.

Sizzling 65 Gives Marti Early Lead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Big Fred Marti, the first-round leader in the $125,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open golf tournament, has yet to win a major tournament in six years in the pro tour—but feels his time may be coming.

"You've just got to keep trying, keep playing, and get lucky," the big blond said after shooting a sterling six-under-par 65 for a one stroke lead in this kickoff event of the long 1972 pro tour.

The Texan led the field despite continued weakness from a bout with pneumonia that knocked him out of the last few tournaments of the 1971 season.

He held a one-stroke margin over George Archer, Bob Smith, Hale Irwin, Curtis Sifford and young John Mahaffey, a 23-year-old tour rookie and former national collegiate champion.

George Boutell was alone at 67, with four others tied at 68 in the bright warm sunshine that bathed the 6,823-yard, par 71 Rancho Park Golf Course. They are Gene Littler, Tom Weiskopf, Jim Wiechers and Larry Wood.

Arnold Palmer had a 69, Billy Casper took a 71 and Lee Trevino struggled home with a fat 74, far back in the field and in danger of missing the cut for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday unless he improves.

"I think it's mostly experience," Marti said of the improved play that put him on top of this tournament and staked him to his best season of his career last year. He won the satellite Ontario Open, finished second in the Kaiser and won almost $60,000.

He spiced his round with a five-under-par 30 on his front nine, including a 20-foot birdie putt on his first hole. He also reached a par five in two, twice hit irons inside five feet and made another from 10 feet. He had two birdies coming home, but faltered with a bogey when he was short of a green and, tiring, failed to birdie either of the par five finishing holes.

Wow!

Fred Marti of Baytown, Tex., wears a big grin after he sank a 30-foot putt for a birdie to go seven-under-par for the first 14 holes of the Los Angeles, Glen Campbell Open, Thursday. Marti carded a six-under-par 65 for the first-round lead. (UPI)

Morehead State Upsets Marshall Univ., 103-98

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's not often that any basketball team outruns—or outguns—Marshall's Thundering Herd, but it happened Thursday night.

Morehead State, hitting 68.4 per cent of its shots from the field in the first half, raced to a 61-53 lead at intermission and went on to score a 103-98 upset victory over the 13th-ranked Thundering Herd—at Marshall, no less.

Morehead Coach Bill Harrell used a starting line-up of five sophomores, and one of them, forward Eugene Lyons, responded by scoring a career-high 27 points, 25 of them in the first half explosion.

There was an element of dejection after the game, and it wasn't a pleasant one for Marshall fans.

The last time Marshall was ranked in the top 20 was during the 1955-56 season, when the Thundering Herd briefly held the No. 18 spot. The following week they were knocked off by Morehead State, and the school had not held a national ranking again until this season.

Now it's happened again.

After Morehead took an early 24-14 lead, Marshall caught up and passed the Eagles at 34-33. A jumper by Lyons put Morehead on top 46-45 and the Eagles stayed on top till Randy Noll put Marshall ahead 80-79 with a foul shot with 7:06 remaining.

But Morehead responded to the challenge, outscoring Marshall 19-8 for a 98-87 lead and the game.

Lyons' running-mate at forward, Len Coulter, scored 26 for Morehead and guard Bill Dotson added 20. For Marshall, guard Mike D'Antoni netted 28, center Russell Lee tallied 23 and forward Randy Noll scored 21 points and pulled down a game-high 11 rebounds.

No. 15 Southwestern Louisiana, 7-1, avenged its only loss of the season by whipping Eastern Kentucky 87-80. The Bulldogs had dropped a 105-99 decision at Eastern Kentucky Dec. 1.

Dwight Lamar, the nation's leading scorer, pumped in 34 points to pace the Bulldogs, who took the lead for good midway through the first half and led by as much as 18 in the second half.

On the West Coast eighth-ranked Long Beach State opened defense of its Pacific Coast Athletic Association crown with an 89-75 triumph over San Diego State. Lamont King topped the 49ers, now 11-1, with 21 points while Jimmy Wilkins was high for the Aztecs with 20.

Senior guard Sam Simmons popped in 24 points to lead Bradley to a 95-79 Missouri Valley Conference victory over Memphis State. Don Holcomb scored 24 and Larry Finch 21 for the losers.

Page Is Named As NFL's MVP

NEW YORK (AP) — Alan Page of the Minnesota Vikings became the first defensive player ever to be named the Most Valuable Player in the National Football League when he was awarded that honor today by The Associated Press.

Page, the Vikings' 6-foot-4, 245-pound defensive tackle, grabbed the award with 16 votes of the special panel of 60 sports writers and broadcasters in every league city, outdistancing quarterback Roger Staubach of Dallas and wide receiver Otis Taylor of Kansas City.

Taylor, the top vote-getter among American Conference players, and Staubach each received 10 votes. Miami quarterback Bob Griese collected nine and Washington quarterback Bill Kilmer was named on four ballots. No other player received more than two.

Notified of the award, Page said: "I am surprised. It's a great honor."

He found himself at a loss to explain just how he accomplishes what he does.

"I never paid much attention to what the other tackles did," said Page. "I don't exactly do it—whatever I'm supposed to do—picture perfect. I play it by ear and go from there."

And now listen to Coach Bud Grant:

"There are people with something extra. They have the facility for turning a game around, even on one play. And if they don't—if they never get that one play—that threat is still there and you have to respect them for that threat."

"These kind of people come around most infrequently and sometimes never."

Some seemingly constructive changes have been approved for the supermodified races at this year's Missouri State Fair.

National Speedways of Florida head Al Sweeney, Tampa, met with International Motor Contest official Jewell Kidwell, 2303 East 10th, in Jefferson City Wednesday night and discussed the 1972 changes.

The modified programs (A and B), which have been held on the same night during past years, have now been given separate nights.

The Missouri Supermodified Senior Championship will be held on Aug. 19. The program for the A-modifieds will consist of heat races (qualifying), a consolation feature and a 50-lap main event.

The following Friday night, Aug. 25, the B-modifieds will take over and run a program of their own, which will consist of heat races, a consolation race and a 25-lap main.

Another change, which is probably a year behind, will find the cars being stopped if the yellow flag is out for more than five consecutive laps. Cars will be stopped in front of the pit area in the event this happens. They will be allowed to take on fuel, but will not be allowed to pull into the pits for any maintenance work. All work must be done on the track itself.

The race will then be restarted from the point where it left off.

Many area race fans remember last year's crash-marred 50-lap senior championship event that saw the drivers on the track for 113 laps before the checkered flag ended the race.

Another $500 has been put into the purse for the A-modifieds, making the total now $6,000.

Probably the most significant change that was made for this year's program is the fact that ALL drivers and cars will be eligible to compete. In the past the race has been only for Missouri cars and Missouri drivers.

However, stronger stipulations have been placed on the cars' appearance... it will be mandatory that all cars have a modified tail that can be attached to the body.

In the past, many drivers have taped cardboard boxes on top of the sprint tails or used other means to alter the sprint car appearance.

Having the Missouri Senior Modified Championship on Aug. 19, it is anticipated that many of the sprint car drivers who run in the afternoon sprint car feature on the half-mile track will stay over and make the night race as well.

Another incentive that may hold many of the afternoon drivers over for the modified night program is the fact that they will be able to run for a total, two-purse of over $11,000. Last year's total purse for the opening sprint car race was $5,600, but that purse may also be increased, some what.

Speaking of racing, the Sedalia Jaycees may shift their annual Memorial Day Weekend racing program to a June date in an attempt to upgrade the field of cars.

They are also dicker on whether or not it would be better to have a sprint car demolition derby event or a stock car demolition card.

Pintos Power By 'Cats

CALIFORNIA — "They are the best ball club we have faced all year," said Warsaw basketball coach Galen Davis after his Wildcats had suffered a 75-66, non-league setback at the hands of California here Thursday night.

"We were able to control the boards pretty well, but they shot over 55 per cent from the field, while we were able to manage only 40," he added.

Starrick Charity String Reaches 50

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Greg Starrick continued his flawless free throw shooting Thursday night as the Salukis of Southern Illinois University beat the University of San Diego 95-74.

Starrick had 18 points, tying for top SIU scoring honors with teammate John Garrett. Starrick hit four free shots, bringing his string of consecutive charity tosses to 50, just ten short of an NCAA record.

Things got off to a rough start for the Wildcats in the opening period as 6'7" junior center Doug Stevens was charged with three fouls in the first four minutes of play. Davis was forced to take him out for the remainder of the opening half. Stevens returned to the lineup in the third period and played the rest of the game and wound up with 14 points.

With Stevens on the bench, the Pintos were able to gain a 41-34 lead by the intermission. They led at the end of three quarters by seven, 59-52.

Junior star Eddie Barnes was the game's leading scorer with 25 for the Wildcats, but the balanced scoring of Charles Johnson, Steve Flippin, Robert Zimmerman and Steve Lawson was enough.

Johnson checked in with 23, Zimmerman and Flippin added 12 each, while Lawson canned 10.

California made it a clean sweep as they notched a 52-28 victory in the junior varsity opener.

Cut Your Taxes—V

Single Persons Get Lower Rate

By RAY DE CRANE

A new classification has been made on this year's income tax returns. It is called "Certain married persons living apart."

Designed to treat more equitably those married persons who, for reasons of their own, are occupying separate households, the new rules permit them to file as single persons instead of married persons filing separate returns.

This frees them from the many restrictions imposed on the filing of separate returns by married couples.

As singles they have freedom of choice in listing their deductions, instead of being bound to follow the same procedure as their spouse. Without regarding how the other is going to claim deductions, either has free choice to itemize or to claim the standard deduction. On single returns each can claim up to a maximum $1,000 capital loss deduction.

Heretofore, each has been that must be met before a married person can file as single.

1. The person so filing maintained as his home for more than half of 1971 the principal living quarters of a son, daughter, stepson or stepdaughter for whom the spouse is entitled to a dependency claim.

2. The taxpayer filing in this fashion must pay more than one-half the cost of maintaining the household.

3. The marriage partner was not a member of that household for any part of the year.

If instead of maintaining the home for more than half of the year, the spouse filing as a single person maintained the home for the entire taxable year, he (or she) qualifies for the even more advantageous "head of household" status and should so indicate by checking Block 4 in the Filing Status category.

If the proper conditions are met, both spouses could qualify for this "single" treatment. Or one could be classed as "single" and the other "unmarried head of household."

Ann Landers

Wife Yearns For Glow of Ex-lover

Dear Ann: Five years ago I met the man I had been waiting for all my life. We were the same age, neither of us had ever married. He was charming, intelligent, handsome, fun, and had a good job. People said we were the perfect couple. But he wasn't ready to settle down. Because I loved him, I was patient.

Suddenly, after two years, he announced that he was going to marry his secretary, a divorcee with two children. I learned they had been having an affair for years. She married at 18, was divorced three years later, went to work for my friend and chased him shamelessly. Finally she told him if he wouldn't marry her she would marry someone else. He fell for it.

The following year I married a widower with a young child. He is a wonderful man and we have a good marriage, but it lacks the radiant glow I once knew.

Last week I received a call from my ex-love. His marriage is a mess. He misses me. He made a horrible mistake. He'll leave her if I'll get a divorce and marry him. Of course I said no. But I die when I think of what we might have had together. I feel a deep bitterness toward a woman who would break up a relationship as perfect as ours. How can people be so rotten? — Denver

Dear Denver: I'm not pinning any good conduct medals on Miss Rotten but she didn't exactly knock your boyfriend in the head and carry him off. He chose her when he could have had you and don't forget it. I'm glad you had the good sense to tell him to get lost. I also have a sneaking suspicion that the man you married is by far the better of the two. Yes, even minus the "radiant glow."

Dear Ann Landers: For years I allowed my little poodle to ride with me in the car — on the floorboard, or on the seat next to me. No problem — until yesterday. My daughter and I were going to the market and Muffy was on the floor, at her feet. My daughter moved suddenly and startled her. She jumped to my side of the car, right in front of the brake pedal. At that very moment we were approaching an intersection and the light was changing. I struggled to get my foot on the brake pedal but Muffy was in the way. I tried getting her with my hands, shoving her aside with my foot, but it was impossible. I finally yelled to my daughter to get her. She did — just in time. I ran the stop light and miraculously avoided slamming into another car. We stopped just short of jumping the curb. Never again will I let our dog sit on the floorboard. From now on she sits beside me or stays at home. — Learned My Lesson

Dear L.: Your letter is a good reminder that pets can distract a driver. Thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I decided that since we were financially able we would give our niece a lovely wedding reception. Neither the bride's father nor mother could find the time to come to our home to discuss the plans. When the bride-to-be finally got around to it, her first words were: "I'll have you know I'm going skiing in ten minutes. Hurry up."

Neither family helped with the arrangements. My husband and I ran ourselves ragged. When it was over, no one said

Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Reader Is Wary Of All Doctors

Dear Dr. Lamb — I'm always gripped when you doctors treat symptoms and neglect the cause. If you treat a child who is crying and he no longer cries then you say, "Ah, all is well, he is not crying any more," but the pin sticking in the kid's stomach is still there!

You hinted that the cause of leg trouble might be aggravated by smoking, then pass on to surgery (the profitable part of your profession, of course) without amplifying what causes leg trouble and how this comes about. Or don't you know? Are you afraid if you explain how to avoid the causes of disease you'll lose too much business and lose your column? O.K., I'll betcha my next pension check, if you devote your column (of course, the AMA won't let you) exclusively to causes of disease and amelioration that your column won't last very long.

Dear Reader — My, my, and you sign your letter as a minister. I am not a surgeon and do not do surgery. As most of the readers of this column know, a great deal of space is devoted to explaining disease and how to help yourself or, even better, how to prevent disease through diet, exercise and good living patterns.

Your choice of leg cramps is an unfortunate one for your argument since I solicited from the readers their own experience and was gratified to receive hundreds of letters which pointed up the value of keeping the feet and legs warm.

have been a part of the scene since time began. Sounds as if you had plenty of advanced warning. Why didn't you recognize the signals? — (c) 1972 Publishers-Hall Syndicate

Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Reader Is Wary Of All Doctors

Some readers wore warm socks, others used blankets or heated blankets and by so doing had prevented painful leg cramps. Examples of the letters were published and I hope it helps a lot of people.

I include your letter in the column because it demonstrates what really mistaken ideas people can get about medicine. I have never once had or heard of the American Medical Assn. interfering with a doctor helping people to prevent disease. In fact, the AMA has an outstanding record in relieving human suffering and maintaining high standards for medical practice. No other single organization has done so much to protect the public from unscrupulous faith healers or even poor medicine by physicians.

Now, neither the medical profession nor the AMA is perfect. Many doctors have disagreed with the AMA on how best to provide medical care and other policies. I don't always agree with the AMA either. But I do know that the goal of the AMA is to help provide good quality medical care for the public. The debate is about how this is best accomplished. Since doctors are human some are good and some are not so good, just as occurs with ministers. May I suggest, Reverend, that you look to your faith and see if you can find a little more charity in your heart.

Hear Tape Of Speech By Graham

Sedalia Kiwanians heard a tape recording of a speech delivered by Billy Graham at the Kiwanis International convention held last fall in San Francisco at their meeting Thursday noon at the Bothwell Hotel.

Dr. Graham in his talk stressed the positive sides of American life and called upon Kiwanians to help accomplish what he called a new spiritual revolution that is sweeping the country, especially among young persons.

He said the so-called "Jesus Revolution" is the result of young people looking for solid answers, and urged Kiwanians to help restore to America the spiritual values on which it was founded.

The program was presented by the Rev. Jim Kane. Mrs. Joe Doggett, of the Sedalia Jaycee Wives introduced Mrs. Doug Kneibert, who is representing the Kiwanis Club in the Jaycee Wives' Outstanding Young Woman competition. Mrs. Kneibert thanked the club for sponsoring her, and was presented an engraved charm by the Jaycee Wives for being a contender.

President Jim Woods, reminded club members that the annual Kiwanis Pancake Day will be held Feb. 5 in the Sacred Heart school cafeteria. Guests were Kiwanis Lt. Gov. Charles Burgess, of Warrensburg, with Henry Salveter, and Judge Tom Woolsey of Boonville, with Bob Fritz.

Birthday greetings were extended to John Ryan, and singing was led by Abe Rosenthal, accompanied by Mrs. Keith Maynard. The invocation was given by Rosenthal.

Polly's Pointers

She Wants To Go But Has No Ride

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with all those people who go right past my house and do not stop to take me to church. If they cared they would. When I had a car, I used to have regular riders but now that I do not have one nobody bothers to pick me up. Evidently they think someone will do it so they don't, and everybody thinks the same. I love to go to church so much that during every service I am sitting at home bawling because I want to be there. Once people know you are not there because of lack of transportation they do not even call or talk to you for their consciences might prick. I may sound like a crippled old lady but I am only 56, a single girl with a financial crisis which we all go through at one time or another. My heart really goes out to neglected widows and old people who are permanently without transportation to church. Don't people realize they are going to be responsible for their stewardship and for withholding good when it is in their power to do it? — C. R.

DEAR C. R. — We all need to be reminded of good we could do but do try to get that chip off your shoulder. I am sure what you feel to be a slight is only thoughtlessness on the part of your friends. Is there any public transportation nearby? Get yourself to church by your "own steam" and when friends see you there they will be reminded and know you want to attend. You are far too young to let this get you down. — POLLY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I have a real problem as I am allergic to house dust so have to use fluffy throw rugs instead of carpet. They must be washed very often and are losing their fluffiness. I would like to know what can be done to restore the original softness. — MRS. L. McK.

Here's a shocker for you — all three ladies are the same. Delores Taylor is her real name, and she used pseudonyms for her writing and producing. Since her co-writer and co-star is her husband, Tom Laughlin, the whole project is very definitely a family affair.

Their daughter is in it and even their baby-sitter has a bit part.

"Billy Jack" is the fourth picture they've made together. It's the second in which Billy Jack has appeared as a character — the first was their first hit, "Born Losers." With "Billy Jack" doing so well, they're now writing a third picture to feature the same character.

They are the typical independent film makers of the '70s — they make low budget films, arrange all the details and financing, just get a major studio to distribute them.

With "Billy Jack," they had some problems in that direction

— three studios had their hands on it at one time or another. Delores says things were so bad that, when it opened at some theaters, there weren't any posters or pictures for the lobbies.

Stars Perform at Music Center

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

This year, the biggest splash in classical music took place in September along the Potomac, when the $70 million John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts opened.

Architecture of the center, which has under one roof an opera house, a concert hall and a theater, generally was booed. Acoustics were applauded and the opening night premiere of Leonard Bernstein's "Mass" got mixed reviews.

The Kennedys attended on opening night, except for Jacqueline Onassis: Nixons the second night, for the opening of the Concert Hall by the National Symphony under Antal Dorati, and culture buffs the third night, for the premiere of Alberto Ginastera's third opera, "Beatriz Cenci," which was even better and bloodier than his previous two.

Later, tourists were stealing so many things that the center asked for $1.5 million in "emergency funds." When Congress didn't give it, the tours ended and so did half-price tickets for the needy.

Also this year, $7 million Heinz Hall, a converted 1927 movie theater, opened in Pittsburgh, also with good acoustics; the University of Michigan opened $3.5 Power Center for the Performing Arts, and Finlandia House opened in Helsinki, concert hall plus conference hall.

Igor Stravinsky, the greatest composer of the century, died at 88. Fausto Cleva, who made his conducting debut at the Metropolitan Opera 51 years ago, died in Greece, and soprano Marie Collier, 44, whose biggest triumph had been replacing Maria Callas in a "Tosca" at Covent Garden, died from a fall out of a window in London.

The Julliard String Quartet celebrated its 25th anniversary and Jerome Hines and Dorothy Kirsten celebrated 25th anniversaries with the Metropolitan Opera. American composers Roger Sessions and Virgil Thomson were 75.

At the Metropolitan, General Manager Rudolf Bing began his last season with "Don Carlo," the opera with which he began his first season in 1950. Queen Elizabeth II knighted him.

Martina Arroyo sang on opening night, for the second consecutive year. Biggest triumph of the Met year was the new production of "Tristan and Isolde," conducted by Erich Leinsdorf, with the ranking Wagnerian of the age, Birgit Nilsson, with at last a Tristan worthy of her Isolde, Jess Thomas.

Goeren Gentile, at the Met this season and general manager for next season, plans to create a new position, music director, to be filled by Czech conductor Rafael Kubelik, 56, and will start his first season with a new production of "Carmen," instead of "Tannhauser," which Sir Rudolf had picked for him. Met attendance was 89 per cent last season, down to 85 per cent in the first half of this season, the decline blamed on the general economic slump.

At the New York Philharmonic, Pierre Boulez, in his first season as music director, programmed far more modern music than the subscribers liked and there were rumblings that his three-year contract shouldn't be renewed. But Boulez, looking for new audiences for symphony, took some of the Philharmonic's musicians to Greenwich Village for evenings of modern music, and they were aell attended. The Cleveland Orchestra, lacking a music director since George Szell died in 1970 at 73, voted 96 to 2 that it didn't want Lorin Maazel, 41, former child prodigy, but that is exactly who the board selected this fall.

The two young conductors who came up fastest during the year were Michael Tilson-Thomas, 26, associate conductor of the Boston Symphony, who accepted the additional post of music director of the Buffalo Philharmonic, and Christopher Keene, 24, New York City Opera conductor who also conducted the world premiere of Heitor Villa-Lobos' 1956 opera, "Yerma," at the Santa Fe Opera last summer and made his Met Opera debut in the fall, on an evening scheduled for Fausto Cleva.

W. H. Auden and Pablo Casals wrote a hymn for the United Nations and at a concert in the U.N. on Oct. 24, Casals conducted it. Casals, 95 on Dec. 29, also played the cello.

Musicians from 60 countries made up a World Symphony Orchestra, for four days, and with conductor Arthur Fiedler, played a concert for the U.N., one at Kennedy Center and one at Walt Disney World, whose idea the World Symphony had been.

Rolf Liebermann, 62 and Swiss, who has headed the Hamburg State Opera since 1959 and staged 20 world premieres there, will take over the Paris Opera, currently closed due to governmental red tape. Georg Solti, 58, will be his musical counselor. Solti this year ended 10 years at the Royal Opera in Covent Garden.

Beverly Sills, now being referred to as America's greatest opera singer, sang her first "Norma," in Boston. The "find" of the year may be a New Zealand soprano, Kiri Te Kanawa, 24, who received perhaps the biggest raves for a new opera voice, as the Countess, in "The Marriage of Figaro" at Covent Garden.

Samuel Barber wrote music for "The Lovers." Poems by Chilean poet Pablo Neruda, who later in the year won the Nobel Prize for Literature. The premiere, by the Philadelphia Orchestra under Eugene Ormandy, elevated Barber's star, which had been in a decline since the premiere of his opera, "Antony and Cleopatra."

The Julliard School did an opera based on a motorcycle gang, "The Losers," by Harold Farberman. Opinions differed on its musical merit but it was hair-raising theater.

More for Less.....

If you are interested in more than cheaply priced, cheaply made carpets and are looking for carpets that are manufactured to high durability standards, made a little more attractive with extra emphasis on design and color, then Hobsons have your carpet. If you would enjoy shopping for carpet in a store that features professionally designed displays to make your selection easier, such as the 22 carpeted model rooms in our Clinton store, to the array of eight-foot vertical and horizontal carpeted displays in our Sedalia store, if you would enjoy shopping from a vast selection of Brand Name carpetings; and if you want the most competitive prices in the retail carpet business...then Hobsons is your store

One of the "SELECT DOZEN"

You will understand why this twist shag made our "Select Dozen" list when you see it down. Solids or multi-colors . . . And only Hobsons have it!
